High Grade Ore Encountered

Three feet of ore bristling with bismuthinite running at the rate of $664 a ton is the latest return from Stope 521A in the Jumbo Extension. This will serve to sweeten a whole lot of what Jumbo Ex. calls low grade averaging from $30 to $40 a ton which abounds so freely that no specific reference is ever made to such reserves. These jewelry values are a reminder that the Jumbo Ex. is still a high grade mine, as it upsets the idea obtaining in certain circles that the extraordinary returns of last November and December have vanished and that the days of phenomenal ore bodies have gone glimmering. The reason why the management no longer features high values or devotes any effort to bringing them into the foreground is that everybody is too busy with the policy of aggressive development which almost precludes stopping. Every man and five machines are shaping up for permanent production. Nevertheless, in the last few days two stopes have been started and three feet of rock is being broke down in the face of the south side of Stope 521A that runs $634.22 a ton. The north side of the same stope carries values of $40.04 for four feet of ledge matter. On the 19th instant a grab sample from 521A representing 30 cars drawn from the face of the north side of Stope 521A gave $92.50 and a surface grab from the entire day's production from this side of the stope gave $94.32. Last Thursday four feet of ore from the south side of the stope returned $112.80, while four feet from the face of the north side yielded $61.03.

February Shipments Below Average

Shipments or February will fall below the average of the preceding months through no fault of the Jumbo Ex., which was compelled to stop hoisting ore for a period of ten days owing to the ore bins being filled to overflowing through a deadlock of two railroad companies which deprived the Jumbo Ex. of car service for the period mentioned. The mine is situated on a spur of the Las Vegas and Tonopah railroad, which spots the empties and removes all loaded cars every night. When the Western Ore Purchasing company completed the sampler at Columbia and directed that all local shipments be billed to that point it developed that the Clark road was without rolling stock in the shape of ore cars. So long as the cars from the Jumbo Ex. were billed to Millers ore cars were supplied by the Tonopah and Goldfield railroad. The latter road profited by the long haul and the Clark road received merely the cost of switching to and from the mine. When the Las Vegas line delivered loads to the Columbia sampler the T. & G. railroad did not participate in the rate and therefore declined to furnish cars unless the other railroad would pay the customary rental charge. This the Clark line refused to do. The situation at the Jumbo Ex. resolved itself into a mine congested with tonnage for which it was unable to find an outlet. Finally the truth was disclosed. The L. V. & T. has no ore cars. The T. & G. had a surplus. One railroad would not pay the other a rental for its rolling stock and the Columbia sampler stood idle except for small lots of ore from leasers. Jumbo Ex. was between the horns of a serious dilemma and a solution was only reached when it was determined to resume shipments to Millers. Then the T. & G. furnished cars, the L. V. & T. switched them and everybody was correspondingly happy. To ascertain the true cause of the trouble and unwind a lot of red tape took exactly ten days, during which shipments from the mine had to be suspended. Owing to the fact that the managements of two railroads are at loggerheads the sight of ore going to a sampler fifty miles away is witnessed when it might as well be treated at the back door of the mine at the plant recently opened by the ore purchasing company.

CARRARA DISTRICT IS BECOMING ACTIVE

PERMANENT IMPROVEMENTS INSTALLED BY THE MARBLE COMPANY

"You ask whether anything is doing at Carrara," said Editor Perkins of the Obelisk, who is spending today in Tonopah. "Yes, there is considerable activity there at present. In addition to the operations of the quarries of the American Carrara Marble company, some slight revival is noticeable among the mining operators. At Telluride, the channabur properties under the management of J. B. Kiernan are working steadily, and the company has erected a small plant at Beaty, near the railroad, to treat the company ores.

"At Pioneer, the Yellow Jacket property, under management of J. D. O'Brien, has recently made a strike upon which they are now sinking that seems to be indicative of a large ore body at no great depth from the present shaft bottom. Sunset, at Rhyolite, is operating its mill full 24 hours a day, and is reported to be operating profitably.

"Of course, the greatest factor at the present day in the district is the American Carrara Marble company. Since the commencement of the present year they have operated full time, working about 20 men, on an average. They have installed several permanent improvements, with a view to the future production operations, and are now commencing the erection of a cable road, running from the L. V. & T. tracks to the quarries direct. The terminus of this cable line will be so located that the derricks can pull direct from the quarries and land on the flats, which will be taken down the cable road to the town. From there on switching will be done with a Barney car. The company has just completed the extension of its water line from the town reservoir to a second reservoir just above the quarries, to which the water is forced by a big Gould pump through a two-inch pressure line. This eliminates the expensive hauling item that has heretofore been present. Quarries and town are now connected by telephone direct and various efficiency improvements have been added.

"A concrete reservoir, capacity 25,000 gallons, has been built at the old terminus of the nine-mile gravity line, from which reservoir both town and quarry draw. At the quarries the water is stored in a 10,000 gallon concrete reservoir.

"The entire district is in better shape than for some time previous, and if any of the rumored deals go through, the district should enjoy a period of prosperity."

BIG BROTHER EXERCISES IN SCHOOL GYM

colors, while above, over the stage, were hung garlands of paper flowers and fairy bells of brightest hue. In the background was a large picture of George Washington.

The colonial children in the first and second grades were trained by Miss Hazel Taylor and Miss Edna Sullivan. The dainty little costumes were made by the parents and the wigs were rented by the Elks. Grayson Schmidt played Frontini's "Triumphal March" in a delightful manner and won instant approval from the audience. Little William Davis, who was trained by Miss Evans, made one of the best hits of the evening as a little baker boy, with cap and apron and cart. He was as cool and unembarrassed as any older person in the hall.

The next number was a charming snowstorm dance, the children in attractive costumes of white cloth, with snow trimmings. The costumes were made by the parents and the children were taken from grades three and four and were trained by their teachers, Mrs. Curieux and Mrs. McKenzie. A very taking bit of song and acting was the negro lullaby by girls from grades two and three, trained by Miss Foltz.

The jumping jack dance by boys from grades five and six was most effectively done. Their costumes were yama yama suits made by their parents. Miss Evans trained these boys and their acting showed the results of careful and sustained work. A charming number was the vocal duet by Georgia Money of the eighth grade and Clifford Brissell of the seventh. They were finely trained by Mrs. McKee and received hearty and well-merited applause.

At the conclusion of the children's part of the program Hon. Mark R. Averill delivered an interesting speech on the significance of the Big Brother movement. He was followed by William Cuddy of the high school, who gave a spirited rendition of "Paul Revere's Ride." The closing number was Judge H. H. Atkinson, who delivered an effective speech on the ever-new theme of George Washington.

Too high praise cannot be given to the committees of teachers and Elks for their work or to the children for their faithful and untiring efforts toward the success of the program. The committee of teachers was: Mrs. Jennie Curieux, chairman; Miss Hazel Taylor, Miss Irma Foltz, Miss Edna Sullivan, Miss Jessie Evans; for the Elks, L. A. Herring, chairman; Lowell Daniels, Don Lewers, Ray Robb.

A touch of pathos was added to the otherwise happy occasion by the fact that Mrs. Hazel McKenzie, a part of whose grade took part in the program, and who had herself worked hard and faithfully training them for the event, was Monday evening lying but a short distance away in the hospital critically ill with pneumonia. Many were the good wishes for her recovery that went out from the hearts of the little ones she had trained.

Following was the program: "Lullaby" from Jocelyn; vocal selection, Miss Muriel Robb; colonial dance, twenty-four children from first and second grades; instrumental selection, "Triumphal March," Paolo Frontini, Grayson Schmidt; vocal selection, "The Baker," William Davis; "Russian Snowstorm," song and dance, thirty-six girls from third and fourth grades; "Negro Lullaby," fourteen girls from second and third grades; "Jumping Jack Dance," twelve boys from fifth and sixth grades; vocal duet, "The Milking Song," "Sunset," Georgia Money and Clifford Brissell; "Significance of Big Brother Movement," Bro. Mark R. Averill; recitation, "Paul Revere's Ride," Wm. Cuddy; "Life of Washington," Bro. H. H. Atkinson.

BUTLER THEATER

"Shall we live in darkness or in light?" Many of us have studied this question and the majority say "Live in light." This being the case every man and woman should see this great moral lesson, "Inside of the White Slave Traffic." It is not only startling, but the most educational picture of the age. Surely its friends, and among these are the members of the national board of censorship, are entitled to ask that the production be seen before it is condemned. The management of the Butler, before securing this picture, gave it grave consideration and has found out to his satisfaction that it has been passed by the national board of censorship, therefore, he feels confident in stating that there will be no rudeness of any nature whatever connected with this picture. On the dramatic side "White Slave Traffic" has unusual power. It is a story written for the screen, one of the few we have had of its length. Its advantage over many adaptations, those made by any other than the most skillful, is apparent in the beginning. There is an excellent cast and an unusually large one. To establish an acquaintance over the counter is easy. Then comes the invitation to a dinner, then to a dance, then the employment of a "safe" taxi driver, and the drugged girl is behind locked doors in a brothel. The demonstrably easy fashion in which girls on incoming steamships, girls coming into the city by rail and those who live in large communities are brought into the clutches of powers that prey will serve to cause thought on the part of the most stolid. The temptations and inducements set before the innocent girl is very cleverly acted. At the Butler tonight together with "Inside the White Slave Traffic" will be Pathe Weekly of current events.—AdvF241.
